LeDouglas Johnson

Senior Associate

Analytical. Composed. Strategic

LeDouglas joins Stewart Law Group, bringing twenty-plus years of solid Commercial Litigation. LeDouglas is a dedicated community advocate, volunteer, and leader. He's analytical, composed, and strategic. What sets LeDouglas apart from other attorneys is his ability to quickly identify and align the business objectives in the context of proactive risk mitigation, complex commercial litigation, and creatively negotiated dispute resolution.

LEDOUGLAS IS AN ATTORNEY WHO UNDERSTANDS BUSINESS.

LeDouglas has a natural affinity for numbers and is cognizant of the metrics that drive business decisions and initiatives. LeDouglas earned his Bachelor's in Economics from Duke University before honing his legal acumen at Southern Methodist University.

LeDouglas projects a composed presence whether he stands at the boardroom table or in the courtroom. That composure shrouds a tenacity that has girded LeDouglas through challenges as diverse as walking on to the football team at Duke University or successfully passing a much-needed planned development for a long-forgotten community as a commissioner for the City of Dallas Planning Commission.

LeDouglas has an innately curious and analytical mind. He listens with intent and processes with focus. Clients feel heard because he actively listens. LeDouglas identifies and understands clients' needs before developing and explaining strategies. Business clients want LeDouglas leading and representing their interests as their outside legal counsel.

LeDouglas has expertise in resolving contract disputes, business torts, investigations, products liability, intellectual property, employment, complex commercial litigation, and real estate development finance matters.
